New Play Travesties Marriage and Divorce

Concerning "Why Not," Jesse Lynch Williams' new play, Robert C. Benchley, in "Life," says:

"The Equity Players have at last found a play that will stand comparison with any on Broadway and have cast it with excellent judgment. Jesse Lynch Williams' 'Why Not?" seems to us by far the best comedy in town. It starts out a little too cleverly, perhaps, and it may take you a few minutes to accustom yourself to the idea that probability is the last thing that is being aimed at. But its epigrams have the virtue of being true talk, and its improbability only adds to the force of its argument—which is that marriage and divorce as now regulated by our laws constitute the two best jokes of civilization. Mr. Williams seems to be the only dramatic satirist who can look Bernard Shaw in the eye with only a slight flinch."

MacPherson Concert Is Promised Treat

Music lovers of Monterey Peninsula are indeed fortunate in the high class and distinguished ability of the artists who come here to give forth of their unlimited store of rhythmic melody and technical interpretation.

Announcement is made that on Tuesday evening next, at Arts and Crafts Hall, Carmel, Miss Louise MacPherson, piano virtuoso, is to give one of her delightful concerts.

Miss MacPherson is a Canadian, who has studied both in America and abroad. Her debut was made in Berlin. Since then she has appeared frequently in American cities. Only recently she was guest artist with the Los Angeles Symphony. Her playing embodies that elegance and distinction of style which characterizes the playing of the great masters under whom she has studied.

The Los Angeles Examiner says:

"Another impressive success was achieved at the afternoon concert of the Los Angeles Symphony by Louise MacPherson, whose enviable reputation as a pianist had already preceded her to Los Angeles. The artistic attainments and keen mentality which she displayed in playing Lizt's concerto in E flat proved her worthy of it. For this concert a development of rhythm and tone, perfect beauty of tone paired with beauty of expression became deeply engrossing in its intensity and warm color through the vitality of Miss MacPherson's interpretation."

Hughes Rehearsing for Job

Major Ralph L. Hughes of Salinas, who will be the next state senator from the district comprising Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties, is in Sacramento attending the biennial session of the state legislature. While Hughes will not be a full fledged senator until after the special election, January 30, his presence in Sacramento is due to a desire to get acquainted with his future colleagues and to learn the legislative ropes, in order that he will be fully equipped for his official duties when he assumes the robes of office.

British Etching Society Has Splendid Exhibit at Stnford

There are now on exhibition at the Stanford Art Gallery a collection of eighty-two etchings, the work of members of the Print Society of England. The prints are of the highest quality, and Director Pedro J. Lemos is fortunate indeed in securing such a distinguished collection. The pictures have been shown throughout Great Britain, and at Amsterdam, Toronto, New Zealand, Sydney and Philadelphia. The exhibition closes on February 5. Carmelites interested in this class of work would do well to see these etchings. A catalog of the exhibit may be seen at the Pine Cone office.

San Francisco Has New Hall Dedicated to Concert Purposes

The Arcadia Pavilion in San Francisco, which Selby C. Oppenheimer has secured for concert purposes, lends itself particularly well for this class of usage. The auditorium itself is square shaped, allowing for an arrangement of seats in broad rows and bringing even the last row within intimate distance of the artist appearing. Accoustically, the building is especially good and its capacity, which can be arranged up to four thousand, permits of sufficient room for the fast growing San Francisco and out-of-town musical public to find convenient space to hear all of the great artists who are booked there.

The central location of the Arcadia and the many wide streets adjacent to it, on which there are no car lines, provide ample parking space for automobiles.

Object to Importing Poet to Collate Hawaian Folklore

An Irish poet, no matter how brilliant, can not truly interpret the spirit of Hawaiian legends and folk lore. This in effect is the stand taken in a resolution presented by the Hawaiian Civic Club, which bitterly condemns the action taken by the Hawaiian Folklore Commission in importing Padriac Colm to collect and write the legendry of Hawaii.

The resolution also raises doubt as to whether the territorial treasurer can legally pay Colm out of the $5000 appropriation voted by the last Legislature, and declares that Colm announced plan of remaining here a few weeks and then returning to New York and writing the book there will be "productive of nothing worth while." Colm, who is now in Honolulu, has nothing to say.

Parkhurst Advertises Carmel to World's Lovers of Art

It is expected that at the conclusion of his exhibition in Pittsburg, Pa., Thomas Shrewsbury Parkhurst will return to his studio at Carmel Highlands. With his very successful exhibitions in various large eastern cities, Mr. Parkhurst has certainly put Carmel on the map. Among the striking paintings he has shown are: "Smugglers' Cove," "Shores of Carmel" and "Pines of Point Lobos."

It is expected that Mr. Parkhurst will head the committee having in charge the art exhibit of the Monterey Peninsula Industrial and Art Exposition in September, taking the place of Cornelius Botke, who will be abroad at that time.

A Distinctive Community

IN answer to many inquiries received by the Pine Cone and others as to just "What is Carmel?" there is presented below an article from a folder recently issued by the Gartland & Gavin Advertising Service.

And now, somewhere between Heaven and Paradise, lies a little tree-embowered village, tucked cozily at the base of the Santa Lucia range of mountains and with a mile of beautiful beach skirting the Pacific Ocean. Paris knows it well, perhaps better than it does Chicago. It is Carmel-by-the-Sea. It is four miles from Monterey and Monterey is 18 miles from Salinas.

You take a stage at the latter place and travel through a heavily wooded canon and on a smooth highway to Monterey, that quaint old town most concerned with California's early romance and history of any place in the Golden State, and then you get into Charley Goold's modern, easy-riding stage and drift gently over the four remaining miles of good highway into Dreamland.

On your way over, the driver will point out to you at the right, the famous 17-mile drive, which winds around a mountain-side and down along a jagged coast, past the gnarled old cypresses, the white sand dunes and Pebble Beach, the millionaire settlement. He will say with pride:

"There's Cypress Point to your right and Point Lobos at your left. They ain't scarcely a house in Carmel that can't show you one of those from its breakfast nook."

He won't dump you off at the village corners but will keep right on winding around the trees until he assists you tenderly to alight at your own stoop (for you'll have a door stoop the minute you sight the quaint little houses with their bright blue and orange trim glowing through the trees). He's quite likely to make a special trip down town to get you a can of coal oil for your stove and to order the electric light man to turn on your meter. And 'tis thus that you will be born a Carmelite.

Carmel is the Mecca of the artist and the writer. It is, or has been, the home of Harry Leon Wilson of "Ma Pettingill," and "Merton of the Movies" fame; of Mary Austin, noted writer and lecturer; of the poet, George Sterling; of William Ritschel, marine painter; of Ralph Pearson, etcher; of Garnet Holme, dramatic producer; of Jo Mora, sculptor; of James Worthington, astronomer; of David Starr Jordan, President Emeritus of Stanford University; of Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," and many other workers in the creative arts.

Artists find here a most peculiar environment for their work. When the Great Painter first set about the business of making Carmel he ran his palette knife irregularly around the mountain side to make lovely ravines and then he scattered pine and oak trees everywhere. He put great gobs of bluing into the sea, which gives it that most marvelous ultramarine blue. He intensified the color of the rocks, the sunshine, to the 'nth degree. He gave to the landscape mysterious fog effects, gay mottled sunsets with the evening glow turning every pine needle on every pine tree to glittering rust, and finally he caused to be gathered in the little rambling village the most interesting collection of people who do things that can be found in the United States.

Carmel is rapidly taking its place among the dramatic centers of the country. A Little Theater is now being built and for 12 years its outdoor Forest Theater has attracted much attention from all who love the outdoor drama.

It is worth the trip if only to see Carmel Mission, the place where Father Junipero Serra lived, died and is now buried.

There is nothing quite like Carmel-by-the-Sea in all America.

Fire Department is Being Reorganized

Acting in accordance with city ordinance No. 47, the Carmel firemen met on Tuesday evening to reorganize the department. J. E. Nichols presided and R. J. Leidig was secretary.

A committee on constitution and by-laws was appointed as follows: R. G. Leidig, L. E. Payne, Charles Hoehn, R. C. DeYoe and J. Belvail.

The rules of order committee consists of H. E. Rogers and Lawrence Leidig.

H. P. Larouette will recruit new members from amongst the old organizations.

Trustee T. B. Reardon and City Attorney Argyll Campbell were present in an advisory capacity.

New Organization Begins to Funcrion

The Carmel Chamber of Commerce got down to business Thursday night. With fifteen members present in the council chamber at the city hall, a draft of constitution and by-laws, submitted by R. J. DeYoe and a committee, was adopted.

The first business under the new order was the election of officers, who will serve for one year. They are as follows: President, W. L. Overstreet; vice-president, John B. Jordan; secretary-treasurer, Richard W. Johnson.

The first committee to be appointed was that of public utilities, which consists of Argyll Campbell, John B. Jordan and Ray Ramsey. The chair was authorized to appoint a committee on business relations.

R. C. DeYoe and W. L. Overstreet will be delegates to conferences of Peninsula commercial and publicity bodies.

Regular meetings will be held on the third Thursday of the month.

Splashes and Splutter

Miss Clara Alexander appeared recently in a concert and Southern program in Oakland. Miss Alexander gave an entertainment in Carmel last summer at the Arts and Crafts Hall.

"The Desert of the Three Skulls," a serial story by Robert Wells Ritchie of Carmel, starts in "The Short Stories Magazine" for January. Mr. Ritchie is now in Honolulu, where he is studying the Japanese problem. He plans to write a novel upon this subject.

"He Who Gets Slapped," an article about which appeared in the Pine Cone recently, is to be put on at Stanford University shortly by the Masquers' Society, under the direction of Richard Bentinck. A large cast is required for this production. Rehearsals are under way.

In a recent number of "Adventure" Frederick Bechdolt has one of his stories of the old West. Its title is "The Texans." It is the story of a fighting breed of men. In the first issue of the same magazine for February Carmel is represented by another of her writers, "Requiem," by Charles K. Van Riper.

The progress of the Detroit Symphony since Ossip Gabrilowitsch assumed control of its artistic destinies has been generally used as the model for those which have since been planned for other cities. Perhaps more than any symphony organization in the country it represents the civic influence and progress of the city. Music critics find in it the true music spirit of the United States, which is forging to the front and winning an enviable position among the music nations of the world.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

On this date in 1783 the American Revolution ended.

POETRY AND MELTING-POT

People who are interested in the occasional emergence of a Vachel Lindsay on the lecture platform perhaps fail to realize that Lindsay is not an isolated phenomenon, but that he is an integral part of a great poetic movement in America of the present day which is bringing into the world of literature an echo, or rather a vital interpretation, of that hurly-burly polyglot melting-pot word of American politics and daily life.

John Farrar, who as editor of the Bookman gathered up the work of poets who had published things in his magazine during eighteen months and had them bound up in "The Bookman Anthology of Verse," says in the preface to his book that "the names of some of the American poets will strike you as being Anglo-Saxon, but there is that strong race infusion which is already beginning to give a new color and strength to American writing: the Jew in Louis Untermeyer, the Scandinavian in Carl Sandburg, the Russian in the boy Miron Raison, the Portuguese in Dos Passos, the Italian day laborer in Pascal D'Angelo. It is a rare inheritance, this of ours, and a mull measure from which is pouring the mixed passions of our national genius."

HE STRIKES FROM THE SHOULDER

Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge blamed radicals, reactionaries, foreign propagandists, high taxes and government interference with business for America's troubles in a recent address. The preservation of American institutions, he said, was the supreme duty of the present and he added that more disintegrating influences were at work on them than at any time since the Civil War. "A permanent revival of plain horse-sense and straight-out Americanism," brought about by "the common action of plain American men and women," was needed, he said, to meet the situation. "Correct abuses promptly and with a firm hand," he advised, "whether these abuses are practiced by capital or labor; put profiteers in jail like other criminals and with as little hesitation, and at every hazard and at any cost maintain order and uphold law."

He warned against foreign entanglements, asserting that Americans should be "levelheaded enough and sufficiently open eyed to understand that all foreign propagandists have at heart and work for the interests of their country exclusively and never the interests of the United States at all. America's prodigious task," he said, in closing, "is to weld so perfectly our various racial groups that there will emerge at last a homogeneous people."

Gally Does Artistic Work at Monterey

by FRANK ARTHUR FRENCH

The definite quality of David B. Gally's work as playwright and producer was again emphasized in his second presentation of three one-act plays by the Missiontown Players at the Monterey Theatre Monday night. If it be true that society is built upon trust, it is equally true that producing is built upon faith — faith in the producer's own power to put over something worthy and faith in the public to find and take away the inner beauty and significance to become part of themselves.

David Gally's peculiar quality of individualism is a directness and keen assurance of the point and purpose subconscious in all nature—that thing which is motive and harks back to the elemental, and which, in his subtly direct way, he puts over—the humanness of humanity, leaving you to choose the good, be compassionate toward the weak. He gives mistakes their actual value as stepping stones. Clad in a setting of unusual artistic beauty the children of his courage and fire leap forth to the conquest armed with truth as a shield and faith as their sword.

He was one of the five to organize the Washington Square Players, originating out of the Little Thimble theater, where he was leading man and director. Associated with him were Tony Sarg, Mr. and Mrs. Zorak, Sarakichi Hauptman and George Bellows. He starred in Walker Whiteside's "We Are King" for two years throughout the United States; also in Mansfield's "Parisian Romance" after the death of the latter. All this preparation and the years of playing Shakespearean roles make a peculiar background for the alert versatility of his present work. His knowledge of the synthetic arts was well exemplified in the exquisite settings of the plays at Carmel, Del Monte and Monterey theater. There the large proscenium suddenly became the heart of a lustrous pearl. None of the cheap glitter and glint of the usual semblance of opulence—merely a subdued richness of tone, texture and line in startling harmony with the players. And though the audience was small it was at least appreciative.

In collaboration with David Gally Marie Lambert showed her strength and versatility, handling the three characters of greatly variant moods and types with amazing aplomb. Nobody even dreamed that she was suffering from a severe case of poison oak as she tripped gaily on in the last scene of "When to Die." This play was a satire on modernism written by Marie Lambert and David Gally, with Owen White in the principal role and plenty of humor and sparkle. The youngest player in the company, Lambert Gally, made the first entrance and the last exit and was part of a smooth and finished performance. "Poetry and Prose," by Z. Levin, and "Dawn," by Rita Weiman, comprised the rest of the program.

Old Resident Passes Away

Mrs. Sarah Francis Cumming, Carmel pioneer, past three score and ten, died at her home here yesterday morning. She was a native of Gloucestershire, England, and came to California about sixty-five years ago. With her sister, Mrs. Rachel M. Ashburner, who survives her, she came to Carmel in 1908 and resided here ever since. Both ladies were close friends of the William Greer Harrison family. The deceased was a communicant of All Saints' Church here.

Funeral services will be held in Monterey at Freeman's undertaking parlor. Interment will be in Woodland Cal., where deceased's husband is buried.

Not So Bad.

In "The Edge of the Jungle" William Beebe says that being attacked by a vampire is "rather pleasant than otherwise," and though our own experience has been with vampires of another species, we, too, can testify that the sensation when attacked, is by no means disagreeable.—Boston Transcript.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS

By Ann Burroughs

Status of the Hebrew in America

"Upstream," by Ludvig Lewisohn, should be read by everyone interested either in America or in the Jews, for the book is an autobiography of a young Jewish immigrant to the United States from Germany, who is already a figure in American letters, if not an influence. It is a record both of American class distinction against the Jews and of a long series of particular distinctions against the author. As a non-Jewish (and, be it said), unprejudiced reader of the volume, I was conscious of many self-evident reasons why ambitious and conservative universities, to whose faculties Mr. Lewisohn aspired, might object to so individual a member. For, although Mr. Lewisohn's talent is very great, his learning astute, his intentions of the best, his individual idiocyncracies are not such as would blend harmoniously in any sleepy gathering of savants whose interests confine themselves to events, documents or growths of periods much anterior to 1492, 1456, 1326, or any other date of importance to modern history. Mr. Lewisohn's mistakes in his early years were his attempt to mould college desires to his own standards and his failure to learn from his own undergraduate and graduate experience both what universities are also how powerful universities are to remain in their rutted mill wheel of dim enlightenment.

The fact that "Upstream" is a serious attempt to present Jewish aspirations and equipment and American prejudice is of immense importance. It is a pity that so fine a volume will exert so small an influence against the wall of that prejudice. Many similar volumes and many fine Jews, of which California may be proud to have harbored a few—I think particularly of David Lubin and Albert Bonnheim—particularly the fine Jewish individuals, are the only hopeful bridgement between the two understanding groups so clearly defined in "Upstream," the non-Jew and the Jew. I wondered as I read if it wouldn't be worth while to have as frank a statement for the non-Jewish point of view as Mr. Lewisohn's is for the Jewish.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY OF THE STATE PURSUANT TO SECTION 3897 OF THE POLITICAL CODE.

Office of the Tax Collector of the County of Monterey, State of California.

Whereas, on the 15th day of December, 1922, there was received by me and recorded in my office, a written authorization under the hand and seal of the Controller of the State of California, which said authorization was and is in words and figures following:

NOTICE

Controller's Department, State of California.

To the Tax Collector of the County of Monterey, State of California:

Whereas, a deed or deeds conveying to the people of the State of California the title to the property hereinafter described having heretofore been filed in the Controller's office of the State of California;

And, whereas, said deed or deeds recite the fact that said property hereinafter described was sold to the people of the State of California for the non-payment of state and county taxes;

And, whereas, five years have elapsed since the date of said sale, and no redemption, according to law, has been made of said property, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the law in such case made and provided, I, Ray L. Riley, Controller of the State of California, by virtue of the authority in me vested by the laws of this State, do by these presents authorize, empower, and direct you, the said Tax Collector, to sell at public auction, in separate lots or parcels, the property hereinafter described.

The property above referred to, and hereby authorized to be sold, is situate, lying and being in the County of Monterey, State of California, bounded and particularly described as follows, to-wit:

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Pola Negri, movie star, was registered at Del Monte Forest lodge this week.

Mrs. S. B. Hunkins of Carmel and Fresno, who spent a week here, has returned to the Raisin City.

Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Hoagland and Mrs. H. F. Pastorius registered at Pine Inn this week. The doctor is a San Francisco dentist.

Two new pupils have recently enrolled in the Forest Hill school in North Carmel—little Bobbie De Yoe and Virginia Schmidt.

The Corrigan house on Casanova street has been rented by Mrs. Kenneth Leeman of Salt Lake, who will remain here for some time.

Dr. H. A. Spoehr, who was one of the principal speakers at a meeting of scientific men in Boston, reached home last Sunday.

A Los Angeles party, consisting of Dr. and Mrs. E. Wood, Mrs. Robert H. Wilson, Miss Apson and Miss Trout, were Pine Inn guests this week.

Mrs. Charlotte E. Morgan, sister-in-law of M. DeNeale Morgan, an artist of Berkeley, has moved into her new studio here at Lincoln street, near Seventh.

Mrs. Helen Meuth is visiting friends in Los Angeles for two weeks. She has many friends among the officers of H. M. S. Capetown, now anchored off San Pedro.

Recently at the Misses Hill Gallery in New York there was on exhibition thirty-two oil paintings by Julie Stohr. Mrs. Stohr and her daughter have sojourned here on several occasions.

Carmel's $5100 Luverne fire engine is on its way here from the east. One week after its delivery a fifth of the purchase price will be paid. Four annual payments will clean up the balance.

Cards have been received here announcing the engagement of Miss Virginia Nugent, daughter of Baroness Alice Nugent and niece of Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, to Ellis Stowe, San Francisco attorney. The Nugents own a house here on North Monte Verde street.

A send-off party in honor of Gerald Morrow, who leaves this week for the southland, was held at the Burton home Monday evening. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Botke, James Worthington, Austin James, and Mr. and Mrs. John N. Hilliard and daughters.

A local party, made up of Mr. and Mrs. Ira M. Remsen, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Glassell, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Van Riper and Harrison Godwin, left for San Francisco yesterday to attend the first annual Quatr'z Arts Ball at the Fairmont hotel last night. On the preliminary program appears this significant line: "The Carmel Artists in Concordant Concoctions"—whatever that means.

Nan Mason, daughter of Dan Mason, well known screen star, and Wilna Hervey (Katrinka) Hervey, sister of Thomas Vincent Cator, are here for a brief visit, prior to going east.

There'll be a new grocer—not a new grocery—in Carmel on the first of February. Ernest Schweninger has sold his business to B. F. Minges of Monterey, one-time Standard Oil representative on the peninsula. Mr. S.'s plans have not been disclosed.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Wallace Jackson, formerly Jessie Francis Short, one time Carmel artist, came down on Thursday from San Francisco for a last visit to her Dolores street cottage here, which she has sold. Before long she will build a studio home on Camino Real.

"Shadowland" for January is at hand, and it is pleasant to note that for the third time Johan Hagemeyer has been awarded the monthly competitive prize for his photograph, "Castles of Today." This artist has made many friends since coming here and one frequently hears a desire expressed that he would specialize on tree photography. He does striking portraiture work.

Junior Red Cross Praised for Work Influencing Peace

The advancing standard of the Junior American Red Cross made two outstanding gains during the last year—one in the field of domestic activity, which is rapidly linking up the schools with the Junior program, the other a gain of a dozen countries in Europe pledged to organize Juniors on the lines of the American organization. For this accomplishment the American Juniors earned the hearty endorsement of the League of Red Cross Societies for its "creation of an international spirit of human solidarity among young people with a view to preparation of a new civilization for peace."

The forthcoming annual report of the American Red Cross for the year ended June 30, 1922, will show 24,528 schools enrolled, with a total of 4,483,845 pupils wearing the "I Serve" button of the American Junior Red Cross—the badge of unselfish service earned by each individual member through personal sacrifice.

In international school correspondence 736 classes and schools engaged in friendly communication with 623 schools in European countries, 90 schools in United States territories, 13 in South Africa and 10 in a miscellaneous list of foreign countries. The work in foreign fields in establishing playgrounds, school libraries, sewing and manual training classes, homes for war orphans, school reconstruction in devastated areas, encouraging community gardens and many other activities was financed through the National Children's Fund raised by the Juniors at a cost of $338,237.40. During the year $56,922.79 was contributed toward the fund, in which on July 1 there was a balance of $201,361.58.

Can't Doctor Stumps.

Boring holes in stumps and filling them with saltpeter or something else to hasten decay is a waste of time according to the foresters of the State Agricultural college at Ithaca, N. Y. The holes do give added surface for nature's destructive agents to work on, but only digging, chopping, burning, or blowing out will quickly dispose of stumps that can't wait for the slow process of decay.

Must Be Partnership.

Often and again, a man who fails in his scheme of life could be made a success if some capable man would take him in hand; but he'd have to be willing.

Sparrows Destroy Insects.

A single pair of sparrows and a nest of young ones consumes about 3,000 insects a week.

A Carmel visitor is Lilly Munsell Ritchie, author of "Chicken" and "Little Jane." She will be here for some time as the guest of Mrs. H. C. Wallace.

25,000 Ex-Service Men in Hospitals

The Government without stint is undertaking to furnish these disabled men with the compensation and medical care to which they are entitled, yet their especial care is a duty of the Red Cross. Why? Because the Government cannot handle the cases of ex-service men individually; it must handle these men in bulk under a standardized policy. The Government has neither the authority, the funds or the equipment for working out the problem of the individual man. There is where the American Red Cross finds its greatest field for service, aiding through its very active Chapters in reaching the disabled man with immediate practical help, assisting his family while his claim is emerging from the process of adjustment, furnishing articles of comfort, funds to tide over the difficult periods, the friendly touch of personal encouragement, helpful recreation and worry-dispelling amusement. It is the warm hand of sympathy and understanding which the American Red Cross extends to the majority of these disabled ex-service men, some of them friendless in the whirl of life, thousands of them with wives and children dependent upon them, and hundreds of them frequently helpless in the face of grim necessity.

2,679 Chapters Aiding Veterans

In this work, upon whose accomplishment the American Red Cross is urging a record-breaking enrollment in the Roll Call which opens on Armistice Day and closes with Thanksgiving Day, 2,679 Chapters in all parts of the country are engaged. This is 360 more than were working for ex-service men last year when approximately $10,000,000 was expended by the National Organization and the Chapters working together in harmonious unity.

For the current fiscal year National Headquarters appropriated $3,030,692.90, an increase of $365,560.84 over the amount spent for the work among ex-service men in the year ended June 30 last. Since it is estimated that the Chapters will expend close to $7,000,000 from their own funds, the grand total of Red Cross expenditures for this single work is expected again to reach the $10,000,000 mark by June 30, 1923.

Hospital and District Office Work

During the fiscal year a total of over 1,000 persons, paid and volunteer, has been engaged in Red Cross duty in hospitals or district offices of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. An average of 8,000 new cases requires definite and particular attention each month. The demand for Chapter-made articles for hospital patients is constant.

During last year Service Claims and Information Service at National Headquarters handled 37,200 compensation and insurance claims, 24,560 allotment and allowance cases, and 9,700 miscellaneous claims. Since February, 1919, it has disposed of 64,174 allotment checks payable to veterans which the Post Office Department reported undeliverable.

The Chapter is the unit of the Red Cross organization which is accessible to every disabled veteran or his family. Between July 1, 1921, and June 30, 1922, the Chapters had reported 1,665,079 instances of service to ex-service men and their dependents, at a cost estimated from reports now at hand of more than $5,340,000.

The basis of this far-reaching work of the Red Cross is the individual needs of the disabled veteran to the end that he may obtain his rights under the law, that his especial wants may be immediately supplied, that his own and his family's situation may be rendered happy and cheerful, and that their outlook for the future may visualize incentives for independent and fruitful effort.

"Rollo's Wild Oats," which opens the spring season of the Greek Players at the University of California, next Monday, is one of the great successes of that talented American playwright, Clare Kummer. She knows how to play comedy without letting it broaden into farce or sink into sentimentality, and her art was never better exemplified than in this delightful play which was given its initial production in New York last year and had a run of several months.

The Noah Whitneys have as guest Mrs. Johnston, who will remain here for some time.

Mrs. Margaret Church and daughter, Louise, are in San Francisco until the early spring.

Dr. Amelia L. Gates and Miss Tilly Polak spent several days in San Francisco last week.

The Pine Inn fortnightly dinner dance takes place tonight. Reservations should be made today.

The Henry house, at Dolores and Second streets, will be occupied for some time by G. R. Metcalfe.

Another daughter was born on Thursday, January 4, to Mr. and Mrs. Charlie May. Mrs. May was formerly Shellie Hawthorn.

Cornelius Botke, one of Carmel's distinguished artists, is planning to go abroad, probably in June. He will be away for some time.

Mrs. Charles Hoffman and her son, Ross, are here from Oakland for quite a sojourn. They have one of the attractive Dunmage cottages.

Work on the alterations of the Florence Sharon Brown house in north Carmel has been completed. De Witt Appleton was the contractor.

Nineteen persons at Carmel Highlands have joined the Outdoor Circle, the organization that has for its object the promotion of flower growing.

According to letters received here, we may expect artist William P. Sa[illegible] and wife to be home the middle of May. They have been abroad for about a year.

After several months' residence here, Mrs. L. C. Mullgardt, wife of the well-known San Francisco architect, and her son Jack, have returned to their Berkeley home.

Last week-end Miss Camille Russell had as guests at El Adobe Rancho, Madera, Miss Jean Taylor and Miss Louise Prince. H. A. Russell also made the journey.

Judge J. A. Bardin has granted the petition of Dr. and Mrs. D. T. MacDougal for an order permitting them to adopt their minor grandson, Phil MacDougal Stearns.

William H. Chadney, Monterey police judge, has been indicted by the county grand jury. He is accused of grafting. Attorney Argyle Campbell will defend hizoner.

Jack Jordan has his arm in a plaster cast. He was cranking a motor car; the darn thing got cranky, and kicked him on the elbow. Try a self-starter, Jack—more smiles per minute.

W. E. Kirkhoff of the Monterey Bulb Co., before leaving for New York last week, announced that when he returned in the spring he would plant 15 acres of gladioli in the Carmel valley, the land which was leased from the Del Monte Properties Company. This certainly indicates an increase in the demand for gladiolas grown in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kain are off on a two-months' trip in Tonopah Valley, Nevada. While here they resided in the Place cottage on Camino Real. They will return to Carmel to live permanently.

A correspondent of the Peninsula Herald suggests that the new street to be put through where once stood the Sherman Rose house be named "Street of the Seniorita." Rather an appropriate name.

At her Pebble Beach home recently Mrs. John V. Rittenhouse gave an interesting bridge tea, and had as guests Mr. and Mrs. C. Halsted Yates, Mr and Mrs. Mark Daniels and Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Nares.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kelly, recently married in San Francisco, registered at Carmel Highlands Inn last week. Mrs. Kelly was formerly Mary Louise Baldwin, and is the daughter of Mrs. Sproule of San Francisco. Mr. Kelly is a New Yorker.

Mrs. H. A. Pudan will cordially welcome the members of Carmel Missionary Society and all who desire to enjoy the interesting program on China, at her home, corner of Eleventh and Carmelo, Wednesday, January 24, 3 p. m. Special music is promised.

There will shortly be issued from the press of the Pine Cone a booklet containing travel dates in and out of the Monterey Peninsula, embracing timetables on stages, points of interest, business houses, etc. Gartland & Gavin, Advertising Service, are the publishers.

The Monterey Sales Co., T. A. Work and Albert W. Furlong, proprietors, and the Pacific Grove Garage, Sheldon L. Gilmer, George C. Snell, Albert W. Furlong and Madeline Work, proprietors, have filed in County Clerk T. P. Joys' office certificates showing they are transacting business under fictitious names.

A DESIRABLE SERVICE

Last Monday there was opened on the ground floor in Pine Inn the Carmel Beautie Shoppe. The proprietors are Mrs. Martha Schoells, formerly at the Palace Hotel Beauty Shop in San Francisco, and Mrs. Sylvia Ramsey of Carmel. They will specialize in hairdressing, marcelling, hair washing, hair dyeing, manicuring, etc. First-class equipment has been installed, and only the purest ingredients will be used in all preparations. This enterprise should do well here.
